The Dove

JULY/AUGUST 2019

Message From Pastor Brad

Freedom Every Day

During this month, or at least in the time leading up to and after the 4th of July, there is a widespread focus on and celebration of freedom. Across the board we Americans celebrate our country, the civic freedoms we have, and the ideals infused into the identity of our country. We give thanks for the founders of our country, those who have fought for it ever since, and lift up our leaders in prayer. I know there are some people who struggle with bringing our national identity and celebrations into our worship and corporate spiritual life, but I've come to believe that there are parallels you can't ignore.

Both of these grand institutions, America and the church, have at their foundations an outnumbered, seemingly unprepared and ill-equipped group of people. What they do have is an unshakable faith in a dream that they know can be brought into reality through their joining together with a common spirit and focus beyond themselves. By no means identical stories, but very similar, and freedom is at the root of each of them.

Right now, we could all list several ways that we experience freedom in our lives. The majority of us are able to essentially live our lives how we want to live them. We can go where we please, spend time with who we want to spend time with, and watch, listen, and read whatever we want to. We are free from tyranny, outright indoctrination, and don't have to worry about our loved ones making it home at the end of the day. In Galatians 5:1 Paul writes, "It is for freedom that Christ has set us free. Stand firm, then, and do not let yourselves be burdened again by a yoke of slavery" (NIV). The fight for freedom is not limited to these huge and world-changing struggles that affect the lives of countless people. We all struggle for freedom in our daily lives.

I would argue that one of our greatest and most persistent fights for freedom is against self-imposed limitations. We can claim and proclaim our freedom as Americans, even our freedom in Christ, and live our lives as if both can only go so far. 1 Peter 2:16 tells us to, "live as free people, but do not use your freedom as a cover-up for evil" (NIV). Think for a moment, the Creator of the Universe, God Most High and Lord of All Creation has worked in your life and on your behalf in more ways than can be described. What should our response be to that? Something like, "oh no I can't do that, I'm too (insert something here)" or, "that time has passed for me, I've done my part, it's someone else's turn".

I would respectfully suggest that those are the wrong responses because who are we to say no to God, or that God somehow cannot do a new or meaningful thing through we His imperfect and frail vessels. God has worked with far greater and far worse than you and me! So may we resist the evils of comfort, complacency, and copping out of whatever God may be leading us to and to do. May our freedom not be something we only enjoy or give lip service to, but a dream brought into reality by reaching beyond ourselves, just as our founders did. The dream is here, but it is not complete. These ideals and freedoms need to be worked for and protected by us, those who benefit from them and have a joyful obligation to impart them to all people in our generations and the next. May we the free carry on the rest of our days freely in Christ.

Blessings,

Pastor Brad

Our Financial Health

.....Falling Back??

At the end of June, our worship giving was under budget by about $4,600, compared to under $3,200 at the end of May. This trend is a concern. It may be due to the effort to pay down the mortgage. We will discuss future spending at our next Finance and Trustee meetings in September. I know God will continue to bless us by inspiring our church family to support the mission and vision of our wonderful old church.

America the Beautiful

*O beautiful for spacious skies,
for amber waves of grain; for purple mountain majesties above the fruited plain! America! America! God shed his grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.*

*O beautiful for heroes proved in liberating strife, who more than self their country loved, and mercy more than life!
America! America! May God thy gold refine, till all success be nobleness, and every gain divine.*

*O beautiful for patriot dream that sees beyond the years thine alabaster cities gleam, undimmed by human tears!
America! America! God mend thine every flaw, confirm thy soul in self control, thy liberty in law.*

God Bless America
