Mission Moment

Do you think seminary is just for future pastors? Think again!

Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary in Evanston, Illinois is described as a world class place for those preparing to be pastors, deacons, chaplains, educators, scholars, counselors, musicians and more.

For more than 165 years, this seminary has provided theological education. More than 400 students, representing nearly 40 different denominational groups, are enrolled each year with many more students enrolled in on-line or hybrid educational formats.

Garrett-Evangelical Seminary offers nine graduate degree programs at a master's and doctoral level. They hold to the Wesleyan vision of personal and social transformation, so that in every aspect of life, God's intentions and activity can be made known to the world.

Thanks to our congregations support of the Ministerial Education Fund, Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary and 12 other United Methodist seminaries educate clergy and lay leaders to guide the church and change the world in the name of Jesus Christ.
