Mission Moment

In 1942 World War II dominated the headlines, the United Nations was formed, Henry Ford patented the plastic automobile and Disney released the movie Bambi..... And a little girl asked her uncle why there were no Christian programs on the radio for kids, and thus, The Children's Bible Hour was born, now known as Keys for Kids.

Consider how this ministry has grown from a children's radio program in 1942 into the full-service, multi-lingual, multicultural discipleship organization that it is today.

Over the nearly eight decades their mission has never changed says Director Greg Yoder, "We are here to ignite a passion for Christ in kids and families."

If nothing else, Keys for Kids excels in resourcing. They offer devotionals, stories and games to engage God's Word- but this year..... Partnering with Orphan Outreach, they are embarking on their very first mission trip to Guatemala for one week in September.

Orphan Outreach has a long history in Guatemala, which means an established network, and with that... relationships. Children need to hear God's Word through trusted voices like Keys for Kids Ministries.

Keys for Kids Ministry ask us to pray along with them so their first mission trip is successful and they may continue reaching out to children in God's light.
