

Mission Moment

October 6, 2019

When Garrett was in the fifth grade, he was diagnosed with epilepsy.

Because of his epilepsy and the amazing pediatric neurologist that treated him, he decided to major in biochemistry with a minor in neuroscience, with the goal to attend medical school and become a pediatric neurologist.

Today Garrett is a student at the University of Tulsa, Oklahoma. His home congregation is Faith United Methodist Church in Denton, Texas. When he is not studying, Garrett works several hours a week in the biochemistry department and tutors classmates and in biology and chemistry.

Garrett was grateful to receive an Ethnic Scholarship, made possible by special offerings on World Communion Sunday.

Countless gifted and qualified people face financial obstacles that hinder them from preparing for the vocation God has given them. For ethnic students who will be the first generation in their families to attend college and have not had access to resources that make higher education possible, the road toward higher education has often been challenging

Today, on World Communion Sunday, your special offerings fund World Communion Scholarships, the Ethnic Scholarship Program and the Ethnic In-Service Training Program, all of which help to provide assistance to students whom God has gifted to learn and to serve. Such as Garrett.
